

Ladies and gentlemen

Welcome to our little evenings entertainment in the plush municipal surrounds of The Mitchell Library. I'm certain Mr. Mitchell would turn in his book-lined grave if he knew what we were doing here tonight.

We are privileged to have Falkirk's Arab Strap playing with us tonight. They will open with a short set of acoustic observations. They are good, but quite rude, so it is suggested that you position your hands over the ears of small children in readiness.

Next come Belle And Sebastian. Recording on the Jeepster label, this Glaswegian noctet will play songs from the record If You're Feeling Sinister. In fact, they will play the whole record in sequence. This is the sort of indulgence which gives rock a bad name. To give you something to do while you listen to ten songs you probably don't know, we have provided you with a handy checklist opposite.

The band have stuck the encore onto the end of the set, so you can be assured that there will be no ugly surprises to come between you and your Saturday gins.

Thank You

The Stars Of Track And Field

Seeing Other People

Me And The Major

Like Dylan In The Movies

Fox In The Snow

Get Me Away From Here, I'm Dying

Fag Break

If You're Feeling Sinister

Mayfly

The Boy Done Wrong Again

Judy And The Dream Of Horses

A Century Of Fakers

I Don't Love Anyone